7th Workshop on Money, Banking, and Financial Markets Call for Papers

The Halle Institute for Economic Research, the Department of Economics at the Heinrich-Heine-University Düsseldorf and the European Business School jointly organise the 7th Workshop on “Money, Banking, and Financial Markets”. The workshop will take place in Düsseldorf (Germany) on June 8 and June 9, 2009. This workshop aims to offer a discussion forum particularly for young researchers (PhD students and Postdocs) to present their current theoretical or empirical papers to a competent audience. Submissions in all areas of monetary economics, financial economics, and banking are invited.

Please submit your complete paper (max. 25 pages text) along with information about paper title, name(s) of the author(s), as well as mailing and email addresses of the corresponding author to workshop09@iwh-halle.de. Pdf-files are preferred. Submission deadline is March 1, 2009. Authors will be notified of the Program Committee’s decisions in April 2009. A conference fee will not be charged but participants are expected to cover their own travel and accommodation expenses.
