IWH Policy Talk „Risk Sharing and Risk Reduction – The Challenges that Lie Ahead“

Andrea Enria, EBA, visits IWH

The Halle Institute for Economic Research (IWH) – Member of the Leibniz Association is pleased to inform about its next upcoming IWH Policy Talk „Risk Sharing and Risk Reduction – The Challenges that Lie Ahead“ with Andrea Enria, first Chairperson of the European Banking Authority (EBA). The talk will take place on Tuesday, November 7, 2017, 5:00 p.m., in the IWH conference room. You are hereby cordially invited to attend.

The European Banking Authority is part of the European System of Financial Supervision (ESFA). It is an independent EU Authority which works to ensure an effective and consistent level of prudential regulation and supervision across the European banking sector. Its overall objectives are to maintain financial stability in the EU and to ensure the orderly functioning of the banking sector.

The IWH Policy Talk is an after-work format which aims at bringing together renowned economists with economic enthusiasts. After a short keynote speech about a current economic topic, the alternating expert will discuss with IWH President Reint E. Gropp. All participants are invited to contribute both during the official programme and afterwards in a casual atmosphere.

The Halle Institute for Economic Research (IWH) – Member of the Leibniz Association was founded in 1992. With its three research departments – Macroeconomics, Financial Markets, and Structural Change –, the IWH conducts economic research and provides economic policy recommendations, which are founded on evidence-based research. With the IWH's guiding theme "From Transition to European Integration", the institute's research concentrates on the determinants of economic growth processes with a focus on efficient capital allocation in a national and European context. Particular areas of interest for the institute are macroeconomic dynamics and stability, microeconomic innovation processes, productivity and labour markets, the dynamics of structural adjustment processes, financial stability and growth and the role of financial markets for the real economy.

The Leibniz Association connects 91 independent research institutions that range from the natural, engineering and environmental sciences via economics, spatial and social sciences to the humanities. Leibniz institutes address issues of social, economic and ecological relevance. They conduct knowledge-driven and applied basic research, maintain scientific infrastructure and provide research-based services.
